I am disappointed to learn of the inclusion of Malahide in zone for late flights into Dublin Airport.

Why do we need these late night flights to take this new path?

While it's difficult to understand the decibel numbers there is no doubt that this will have a noise pollution effect on the area.

There is plenty of evidence to show that noise pollution and resulting broken sleep can have both mental and physical effects on a person.

I would ask for this plan not to proceed.
