To whom it may concern

I wish to lodge an objection to the proposed nighttime flights between 11pm and 7am that are planned for the new runway at Dublin airport.

From previously living under the current flight path I am fully familiar with the negative impact that night time flights have and strenuously object to night flights on the new runway. The houses built along this flight path have not been constructed to take account of the noise levels that come with living under a flight path and will seriously affect sleep and living conditions generally.

Kind regards

Stephen Ryan
