Dear Sir/Madam,

Re: An Bord Pleanála's reference number ABP-301908-18.

I wish to submit the following observations on the Greater Dublin Drainage Project, your reference ABP-301908-18.

1. I feel the proposed site for the waste water treatment plant off the R139 at Clonsaugh is unsuitable. This site is in an urbanised area where there are two hotels, several businesses, a Bewley's factory and hundreds of residences within close proximity. These will all be impacted by a facility of this magnitude. The R139 is a busy link road providing access to the M1 and M50 motorways. Construction of a plant of this size will inevitably cause serious traffic disruptions, causing further distress to locals. Dublin airport is 2.4km away. The flight path is over the proposed site. Locals are already impacted by noise pollution, the smell of coffee from Bewley's factory and to add a monster sewage plant to the mix with the probability of odours pouring out into the atmosphere is unconscionable.
2. A plant of this size (four times the size of Croke Park) will inevitably affect the quality of peoples' lives in the area. Proposed Odour Control units up to 24 meters in height, the facility tackling sewage from three counties, with a capacity of 500,000. Should there be any negligence or human error during the construction process or any adverse weather conditions, both of which could have catastrophic implications for the environment if there were any leakages.

3. I feel smaller waste water treatment facilities could be constructed in the three counties involved in this project, whereby there would be less risk to the environment should any accidents occur and would lessen the impact on peoples' lives.
4. The proposed outfall pipeline; running pipes under Baldoyle Bay which is a natural habitat and conservation area for several wildlife and shellfish species will undoubtedly affect the ecology of the area and potentially cause serious harm and risk to the various species in this habitat. Running pipes under Portmarnock beach which is the only Blue Flag beach in Fingal (so I've been told) will no doubt affect the integrity of the beach. This beach is a public amenity and used by thousands of families and individuals throughout the year. The treated waste water will enter the sea one km off Ireland's Eye Island. Irish Water is proposing two stages in the treatment process of the sewage. There is a third phase in the waste water treatment process that would lessen the impact on the ecology of the sea water and make it a safer process which Irish Water are not proposing to do. This will have an impact on the quality of the sea water long term and could compromise the status of Portmarnock beach. We have an ethical duty to protect this beach and natural habitat for future generations to come.
5. I feel the scale of the objection to this proposed site and project warrants an oral hearing and I am requesting an oral hearing on this matter.

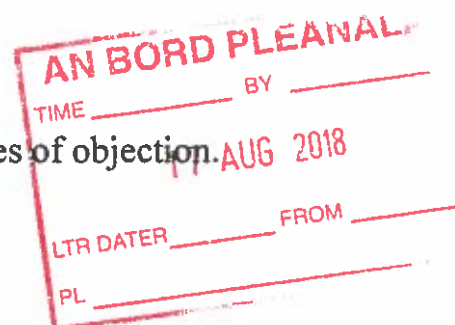

I sincerely hope that An Bord Pleanala will refuse planning permission for this project.

Yours faithfully,

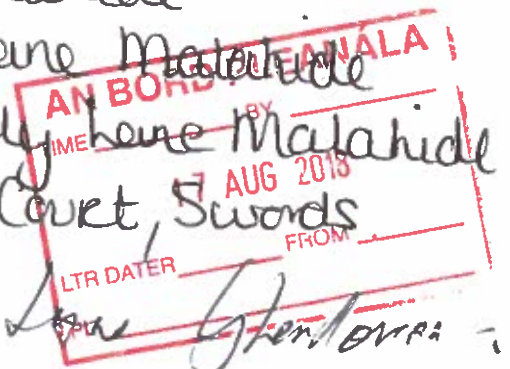

Jane Gribbin
