

I am a resident of Dundrum. I grew up in Rathfarmham and went to school in Noter Dame, Churchtown. I know this area well .

I am In support of building more residential property in Dundrum. However I believe for the wellbeing of the area that there should be some amendments needed to the current plans put forward. My main concern being that the heart and heritage of Dundrum Village will be wiped away if the proposed plans go forward . These old Village areas of Dublin are important to present and future generations. If the development goes up as planned all the history and community of Dundrum will be wiped away .

Other concerns

- building 5 story high building as planned on the main Street, with no garden planning ect in front of the development. Will take away the character of Dundrum.

- The main Street is the heart of Dundrum for many resident, students and visitors. Not factoring in any civic, cultural, community facility into such a large percentage of the village, will cause a negative to the living conditions of locals and visitors a like.

The old town will be wiped away if there is not room for retail and essential services that are convenient for the older population, people with a disability and young children such a butchers, pharmacy, local shops.

Kind regards
