Dear Sir / Madam,

An Bord Pleanála has received your appeal in relation to the above-mentioned large-scale residential development and will consider it under the Planning and Development Act, 2000, (as amended). A receipt for the fee lodged is enclosed.

If there is no appeal against the principle of the planning authority's decision to grant permission/outline permission, this appeal against a condition/conditions may be considered in accordance with section 139 of the Planning and Development Act, 2000, (as amended). The Board has the option of using its discretionary power to give the planning authority directions to attach, remove or amend the conditions appealed against or other conditions. The Board will use this power if it is satisfied that determination of the application as if it had been made to it in the first instance would not be warranted.

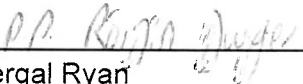

You are advised that the Board will not commit itself to use its powers under section 139 until final determination of the appeal. Therefore, it is possible that consideration may not be confined to the conditions and the appeal could be determined by granting or refusing permission.

You are reminded that section 127(3) of the 2000 Act, (as amended), provides that an appellant shall not be entitled to elaborate in writing upon or make further submissions in writing in relation to, the grounds of appeal stated in the appeal or to submit further grounds of appeal unless requested to do so by An Bord Pleanála.

Contingency Submission

5. If the decision of your authority was to refuse permission, you should consider whether the authority wishes to make a contingency submission to the Board as regards appropriate conditions which, in its view, should be attached to a grant of permission should the Board decide to make such a grant. In particular, your authority may wish to comment on appropriate conditions which might be attached to a permission in accordance with section 48 and/or 49 of the 2000 Planning Act, (as amended), (Development / Supplementary Development Contributions) including any special condition which might be appropriate under section 48(2)(c) of the Act.

Any such contingency submission, in circumstances which your authority decided to refuse permission, would be without prejudice to your authority's main submission in support of its decision.

Please quote the above appeal reference number in any further correspondence.

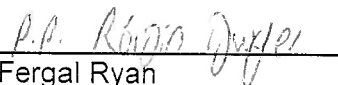

I hereby certify that the planning authority has complied with section 128 and section 37(1)(b) of the 2000 Act, (as amended), and that all material relevant to (ABP-322734-25) the request at 1 on page 1 of this letter has been forwarded.
