Dear Sir / Madam,

An Coimisiún Pleanála has received your appeal and will consider it under the Planning and Development Act, 2000, (as amended). Please accept this letter as your receipt for the fee lodged with your appeal.

If there is no appeal against the principle of the planning authority's decision to grant the permission, this appeal against a conditions may be considered in accordance with section 139 of the Planning and Development Act, 2000, (as amended). The Commission has the option of using its discretionary power to give the planning authority directions to attach, remove or amend the conditions appealed against or other conditions. The Commission will use this power if it is satisfied that determination of the application as if it had been made to it in the first instance would not be warranted.

You are advised that the Commission will not commit itself to use its powers under section 139 until final determination of the appeal. Therefore, it is possible that consideration may not be confined to the conditions and the appeal could be determined by granting or refusing permission.

You are reminded that section 127(3) of the 2000 Act, (as amended), provides that an appellant shall not be entitled to elaborate in writing upon or make further submissions in writing in relation to, the grounds of appeal stated in the appeal or to submit further grounds of appeal unless requested to do so by An Coimisiún Pleanála.
