I am writing to oppose this development, as Meenbog Windfarm Donegal has been the cause of the most significant environmental damage to our area in living memory.

When the last planning was approved, it was taken as a green light for the developer to behave as they wished, without any regards to what had actually been approved for planning. This led to the catastrophic land slide that wiped out the entire eco system of our river.

For anyone not from the area this might mean looking at a TV news report of dead fish floating for a few seconds, and then its forgot about. When you live here its different. About 6 weeks after the landslide I found the skeletal remains of a dead otter on my land about a mile from the river. He had come up a little stream that was a tributary of the river obviously looking for food, before dying of starvation. This was only one out of all the animals that perished.

To now look for planning again is an insult to every decent person who abides by the law, so if the law means anything there is no way this development should proceed.
