Hi Niall,

Please see Part X of the Roads Regulations, 1994 below:

S.I. No. 119/1994 - Roads Regulations, 1994.

PART X.
MISCELLANEOUS.

14. Where any provision of the Act or of these Regulations requires the publication of an notice in one or more newspapers and where the notice relates to a national road, a motorway or a protected road, or to an environmental impact assessment, such notice shall be published in one or more national newspapers and in one or more local newspapers circulating in the area to which notice relates.

Kind regards,
Muirín

Hi Niall,

Please note that Form 2B in the Roads Regulations outlines the format of newspaper notices required – and that includes a start date for the consultation period.

Please also refer to Part X of the Roads Regulations regarding the specific requirements regarding publication of newspaper notices for cases with an environmental impact assessment.

Please therefore re-advertise, to include the consultation start and end dates, in one or more in one or more national newspapers and in one or more local newspapers circulating in the area to which notice relates.

As the consultation dates will likely be affected, please ensure that the consultation period notified to the prescribed bodies is aligned with the revised newspaper notices.

Your portal will also need to include the revised notices when they are available.

Kind regards,
Muirín

Hi Muirín,

Hope you are keeping well. Thanks for confirming the link is working.

The newspaper notice is missing the start date and only includes the closing date - the 25th of November 2026. The 25th of November is 6 weeks from the 14th of October 20206 to allow the 5 working days for An Coimisiún to upload the documentation onto the portal. All the documentation has been uploaded to the Fingal consultation portal in advance of the portal going live on the 14th of October. Is this okay or will the missing start date be an issue and if so is there a further notification that can be provided in the newspaper to clarify the start date? Thanks Muirín.

Talk to you later,

Niall
