The applicant's agent has addressed its response to the Section 137 request, as issued by An Bord Pleanála, under the new/revised policies and objectives of Dublin City Development Plan 2022-2028 chapters, to which the MSPT responds below. The relevant chapters are:

Chapter 4	Shape and Structure of the city
Chapter 5	Quality Housing and Sustainable Neighbourhood
Chapter 6	City Economy and Enterprise
Chapter 7	The City Centre, Urban Village and Retail
Chapter 8	Sustainable Movement and Transport
Chapter 11	Built heritage and Archaeology
Chapter 12	Culture
Chapter 13	Strategic Development Regeneration Area
Chapter 15	Development Standards

It is the applicant's opinion that its Masterplan for a number of adjoining sites on Moore Street and O'Connell Street constitutes "a significant urban regeneration project that encourages high-quality urban design and architectural details that contribute to the historic streetscape."

The Moore Street Preservation Trust challenges this assertion. Referring to this particular site the applicant also states that the Masterplan's ambition is to drive long term value provision of high quality commercial and retail space". Once again the commercial viability of the proposed development is the only focus. The large scale of development, the high density of development and the proposed uses across the development all highlight the commercial basis for the proposals. At the same time the lack of real or proper reference to the historic nature of this quarter in the city centre resonates throughout each planning application.

This site forms part of the Moore Street Battlefield site which the National Museum of Ireland has described as "the most important historic site in modern Irish history." Moore Street holds a special place in the history of Ireland. It was in Moore Street and the surrounding streets and laneways (to the rear of the site which is the subject of this application) and at the nearby GPO, that a fierce battle was fought between the 1916 republican forces and the British Army. For over two decades a campaign has been waged, led by the Relatives of the Signatories and involving the relatives of many of those who participated in the Rising, to preserve Moore Street and its environs as a National Monument.

The MSPT asks An Bord Pleanála to protect this historic quarter. As the Board will be aware, the Trust engaged its own design team and put forward an alternative design, giving due consideration to the historic nature of the quarter.

The Trust asks the Board to refuse planning permission for this application. Unfortunately the overall project and the applicant's Masterplan are wholly inappropriate for these important historic sites located in central Dublin.

Dublin City Council

Dublin City Council's response to the Section 137 request, as issued by An Bord Pleanála, rightly highlights the revised policies and objectives within the Dublin City Development Plan 2022-2028 and its revised Record of Protected Structures.

However the Council once again indicates its support for the project in its response, which the MSPT is critical of. That support has been evident throughout the planning process with many pre-planning and ongoing planning meetings taking place before a decision was made by the Council. Despite this the developer has sought a judicial review concerning the City Council's decision to add buildings and sections of buildings to the Record of Protected Structures.

It should be noted that Dublin City Council planning development and management teams have always supported the planning applications by Dublin Central GP Ltd. while the elected Dublin City Councillors have always worked to ensure the historic nature of the sites is given fair consideration in all the design proposals.

The MSPT asks that ABP protects this historic quarter of Dublin city by refusing to uphold Dublin City Council's decision to grant permission for this site.
