Tuamgraney handball club reflect on another great year in East Clare

A REMARKABLE year of action on handball courts from Counties Clare to Cavan was recalled at Tuamgraney Handball Club AGM held last week.

Reflecting on another great year for the east Clare club, the outgoing chairperson, Gordon Daly, said that progress was made on many fronts, from juvenile to adults, and it bodes well for another positive year of action ahead.

The first full year of activity since COVID, he said, saw the club pick up where it left off, with a huge positive being the influx of new juvenile members.

On the competitive front, however, it was another proud year for the club, with the highlights including the U15 All-Irelands won by Claire Minogue in both 40x20 and 60x30, while Jack Madden and Paul Rodgers won the u16 All-Ireland 40 x 20 doubles title after a titanic battle in their final.

Other notable achievements included Donnacha and Matthew Croty being part of the Clare u16/17 handball team that won All-Ireland honours the weekend before last.

Diarmaid Nash put up a proud defence of his national title, only to be defeated at the final hurdle by five-time champion Robbie McCarthy. Winning the All Ireland doubles titles with Colin Crehan for the third time however meant the season ended on a winning note. The Chairperson said that not alone was Diarmaid an example on the court but off it, too, as he is a major inspiration to all the club's young players and does so much to promote the game. Nash will also appear in the upcoming TV documentary "Hit the Ball".

Female participation in handball has long been a priority of the club and evidence of progress at the elite level, the Chair added, included Catriona Millane's All-Ireland Intermediate singles title and Leah Minogue's success with Team Ireland at the US junior nationals in San Francisco last December.

The last season also saw the beginning of a revival in the 60 x 30 game, including the organising of a 60x30 tournament by incoming Chairperson Shane Walsh as part of Tuamgraney Community Weekend, with the winners being presented with the Pat Kirby Cup.

The outgoing chair thanked all coaches, referees, committee members, players and their parents, all of whom combined to make 2023 such a success and he looked forward to the club being one of the host venues for the upcoming National Championships on the weekend of November 25th/26th. The club, he said, is at full membership and this reflects the strength of the game locally.

THE following officers were elected at the AGM: Chairperson Shane Walsh; Vice Chairperson Eugene Hogan; Secretary Fiona Howard; Assistant Secretary Theresa Nolan; Treasurer Donna Moloney; Child Welfare Officer Hazel Minogue; PRO Marie Jones; DLP Jim Nash, Membership Officer Valerie Madden; County Board Rep Jim Nash.
