1.7.1.1 Forestry Operations

The Wind Farm Site comprises coniferous forestry and agricultural land. This land-use will continue in conjunction with the operation and decommissioning of the Proposed Development. The potential for cumulative effects during the construction, operational and decommissioning phases of Proposed Development have therefore been assessed.

Forestry Felling associated with Proposed Development

The Forest Service is responsible for ensuring the development of Forestry within Ireland occurs in a manner and to a scale that maximises its contribution to national socio-economic well-being on a sustainable basis that is compatible with the protection of the environment. The forestry felling associated with the Proposed Development will be carried out under the relevant guidance and under licence from the Forest Service and full details are set out in Section 4.9.1 of the EIAR. In line with the Forest Service's published policy on granting felling licences for wind farm developments, areas cleared of forestry for turbine bases, access roads, and any other wind farm-related uses will have to be replaced by replanting at an alternative site or sites. The Forest Service policy requires replacement or replanting on a hectare for hectare basis for the footprint of the turbines and the other infrastructure.

Replacement of Forestry

The replacement of forestry, felled as part of the Proposed Development, may occur on any lands, within the state, benefitting from Forest Service Technical Approval<sup>1</sup> for afforestation, should the Proposed Development receive planning permission. Under the Forestry Regulations 2017, all applications for licences for afforestation require the prior written approval (technical approval) of the Minister for Agriculture, Food and the Marine.

The requirements for afforestation licencing are set out in the Forestry Regulations 2017 - this includes consideration of Environmental Impact Assessment and Appropriate Assessment as set out in parts 7 and 8 of the Regulations, respectively. Further detail is set out in the Environmental Requirements for Afforestation (DAFM, 2016)<sup>2</sup>. This ensures that afforestation takes place in a way that complies with environmental legislation and enhances the contribution new woodlands and forests can make to the environment and to the provision of ecosystem services, such as water protection and landscape enhancement.

The typical environmental effects of afforestation include potential effects on biodiversity, soils and geology, hydrology and hydrogeology, cultural heritage, landscape and visual, and air and climate.

The applicant is seeking a ten-year planning permission which incorporates time to secure a grid connection agreement, a route to market (RESS or equivalent Power Purchase Agreement), select the preferred equipment suppliers and put the necessary capital funding in place to allow construction and delivery to commence. Thus, the identification of forestry replacement lands at this stage is seen as premature. If a licence for afforestation was obtained prior to seeking and/or obtaining planning permission, it is highly likely that any licencing approvals sought from the Forest Service would have expired before it could be taken up due to the time required for the planning processes and post-planning delivery preparations. The Forest Service Afforestation Licences expire after 3 years from when they are consented.

<sup>1</sup> All proposed forestry developments where the area involved is greater than 0.1 hectare must receive the prior written approval of the Forest Service. The application for approval is known as Pre-Planting Approval – Form 1.

Furthermore, as mentioned above, the key environmental issues relating to afforestation include water, biodiversity, archaeology, and landscape. Each is subject to regular updates in terms of best practice, guidelines, standards and national policies. Delaying the identification of alternative afforestation lands until such time as they are required enables identification of optimum lands available (from an environmental perspective) for afforestation at that time.

For the purposes of this project, the applicant commits that the location of any replanting (alternative afforestation) associated with the project will be outside the identified cumulative study area. On this basis, it is reasonable to conclude that there will be no more than imperceptible in-combination cumulative effects associated with the replanting. Therefore, forestry replanting is not considered further in the impact assessment chapters of the EIAR.

In addition, the applicant commits to not commencing the project until both a felling and afforestation licence(s) is in place and, therefore, this ensures the afforested lands are identified, assessed and licenced appropriately by the relevant consenting authority.

Further details in relation to the consideration forestry replanting is included in Section 4.3.1.6 of the EIAR.

1.7.1.2 Land-Uses

Within the context of the cumulative study area for other plans and projects, the land-uses cover everything from agriculture to urban fabric. Land-use in the wider landscape of the Site comprises a mix of agriculture, peat cutting, quarrying, low density residential, public road corridor, and commercial forestry. The Proposed Development has been considered in combination with other land uses in the surrounding area, such as those identified above and within the cumulative study area.

1.7.1.3 Arterial Drainage Schemes and Maintenance

The Office of Public Works (OPW) carried out several Arterial Drainage Schemes on catchments under the Arterial Drainage Act, 1945. Under section 37 of the 1945 Act, the OPW is required to maintain drainage works in proper repair and effective condition. These drainage works include watercourses, embankments and other structures. Watercourses are subject to siltation and erosion, among other processes, while embankments are subject to settlement and erosion.

The Boyne, Brosna and Inny Arterial Drainage Schemes are all located within the cumulative study area. The Inny Arterial Drainage Scheme is particularly relevant to the Wind Farm Site as the benefitting lands to the scheme are located within the Wind Farm Site. The Brosna and Inny Arterial Scheme is particularly relevant to the Grid Connection as the benefitting lands to the scheme are located within the Grid Connection site.

While the above is not a live planning application per se we acknowledge there is an ongoing maintenance works programme in place within the Site.
