Dear Sir or Madam,

MKO has been engaged to carry out an Environmental Impact Assessment Report for a proposed residential development at Knocknacarra, Co. Galway. The proposed development is located approximately 3.9km east of Bearna village and will consist of c. 497 residential dwellings along with creche, open spaces and all other ancillary developments on a site measuring 8.76 hectares.

The details of the applicant and Proposed Development are outlined in the attached scoping document and cover letter.

As part of the scoping exercise for the proposed development, we would welcome any comments in relation to the proposed project.

If you have any queries, please do not hesitate to come back to me. Thank you for your time and attention.

Kind regards,
Eileen.

Good morning Eileen,

The Department response for this proposed development was emailed to you on 12 June 2024, I have attached same here for your convenience.

I do see that the reference number in your subject line is different to that on the response issued to you.

That was an error on our part, the correct reference is G Pre 00159/2024.

I hope this clarifies matters, however if you have any further queries please do not hesitate to contact me.

Kind regards,
Colette

Re: EIA scoping document for proposed Large-Scale Residential Development at Knocknacarra, County Galway

A Chara

I refer to correspondence received in connection with the above.

Outlined below are nature conservation observations/recommendations of the Department.

The Department welcomes the correspondence in relation to the proposed Large-Scale Residential development at Knocknacarra, County Galway. These observations are intended to assist you in relation to identifying potential impacts on European sites, other nature conservation sites, and biodiversity and environmental protection in general, in the context of the current proposal. The observations here are not exhaustive, and are made without prejudice to any recommendation that may be made by this Department in the future. Data collected and surveys carried out in connection with this proposed development may raise other issues that have not been considered here.

The Department notes that MKO is preparing an Environmental Impact Assessment Report (EIAR) for the proposed residential development at Knocknacarra, County Galway. This proposal will also be subject to the Article 6(3) Appropriate Assessment (AA) Process. The Department notes that an AA Screening, and if required a Natura Impact Statement (NIS), will be prepared.

General ecological considerations

Assessment of the direct, indirect and cumulative significant effects of the project on biodiversity should be made with regard to:

RECEIVED: 16/10/2025

- Natura 2000 sites, i.e. Special Areas of Conservation (SAC) designated under the EC Habitats Directive (Council Directive 92/43/EEC) and Special Protection Areas (SPA) designated under the EC Birds Directive (Directive 2009/147 EC)
- Habitats and species protected under the Habitats Directive – Annex I habitats, Annex II species and their habitats, and Annex IV species and their breeding sites and resting places (wherever they occur), Bird species protected under the Birds Directive – Annex I species and other regularly occurring migratory species, and their habitats (wherever they occur)
- Other designated sites, or sites proposed for designation, such as Natural Heritage Areas and proposed Natural Heritage Areas, Nature Reserves and Refuges for Fauna or Flora, designated under the Wildlife Acts 1976 to 2023
- Species protected under the Wildlife Acts including protected flora (note Flora (Protection) Order 2022)
- Important bird areas such as those identified by Birdwatch Ireland
- Features of the landscape, which are of major importance for wild flora and fauna, such as those with a “stepping stone” and ecological corridors function, as referenced in Article 10 of the Habitats Directive
- Other habitats of ecological value in a national to local context (such as those identified as locally important biodiversity areas within Local Biodiversity Action Plans and County Development Plans)
- Red data book species
- Biodiversity in general

Reference should be made to the up-to-date National Biodiversity Action Plan, Galway City Development Plan, Galway City Biodiversity Action Plan, as well as the All-Ireland Pollinator Plan.

Likely significant effects on European sites:

The Department notes that the Galway Bay Complex SAC (Site Code: 000268) is located 1km to the southwest and that Lough Corrib SAC (Site Code: 000297) is 2.8km east of the site. The scope of works includes these for assessment however, the Inner Galway Bay SPA (Site Code: 004031) and Lough Corrib SPA (Site Code: 004042) have not been mentioned, and should be included for assessment.

In relation to potential significant effects on a European site, assessments are carried out with respect to the implications for the conservation objectives of that site. Where available, the attributes, targets and notes specified as part of the conservation objectives will determine the scope and detail of surveys, data and analyses required to produce an NIS, if required. The NIS should present the scientific examination of all necessary evidence and data. It should be noted that the conservation objectives of a European site are wider in scope than the qualifying interests or special conservation interests alone, and will encompass other habitats and species, as well as aspects of habitat structure and function, and existing environmental problems and trends. The final analyses are carried out with respect to whether the conservation objective is to maintain or to restore the favourable conservation condition of the habitat or species in question within the site.

The key concerns in relation to likely significant effects of the project alone and in combination with other plans and projects, on these European sites, in view of their conservation objectives, include the following:

- Disturbance of potential resting/roosting sites for Annex II species (e.g. Lesser Horseshoe Bat)
- Increased disturbance and displacement of species, and progressive habitat loss, fragmentation and deterioration surrounding European sites arising from the development, and loss of important ecological corridors
- Added pressures on existing water services

Likely significant effects on the environment:

Under Article 10 of the Habitats Directive, member states must maintain and where possible enhance landscape features to improve the coherence of the Natura 2000 network. Particular note should be given to the EU Green Infrastructure Strategy. Opportunities for landscape enhancement should be considered within the landscape plan which should seek to integrate Green Infrastructure and 'Nature Based Surface Water Management' into the project design and consideration of Sustainable Drainage Systems (SuDS) requirements. At a minimum, it is advised that areas of woodland and treelines on and bordering the site should be retained and protected by appropriate setback distances, landscaping and boundary treatments.

The development of the site should be consistent with protective policies and objectives in the Galway City Development Plan. Recent habitat mapping is available for much of Galway City and should be sourced. Substantial data on species, particularly the more mobile species such as bats, are also available for parts of the city and the environmental assessment documentation associated with the proposed N6 Galway City Ring Road should be consulted.

The Landscape Management Plan should be guided by valuable resources available as part of the National All-Ireland Pollinator Plan¹ and planting of potential invasive species such as Cotoneaster (Cotoneaster franchetii) avoided.

RECEIVED: 16/10/2025

The procedures outlined in 'Guidance Note 08/18 Bats and Artificial Lighting in the UK' and Eurobats 'Guidelines for Consideration of Bats in Lighting Projects' should be consulted with respect to the overall lighting design. This should also take into consideration Dark Sky Ireland guidance "Best practice in public lighting", notably that "warm" colour temperatures should be used at 2700K or less. Final sign off and testing of the lighting scheme should be carried out at night to ensure that the lighting is directional and targeted and should not spill over onto treelines and hedgerows which can have adverse impacts on bats and biodiversity in general. Bat species are strictly protected under Annex IV of the Habitats Directive.

Ecological surveys required:

Ecological surveys should be carried out in accordance with recognised methodologies, and should provide a comprehensive description and evaluation of the ecological baseline of the site, and an assessment of the likely direct, indirect and cumulative effects of all aspects of the proposed development.

Surveys should be carried out by suitably qualified persons at an appropriate time of the year depending on the species being surveyed for. The Environmental Impact Assessment Report (EIAR) should include the results of the surveys, and detail the survey methodology and timing of such surveys. It is expected by the Department, that in any survey methodology used, best practice will be adhered to and if necessary non-Irish methodology adapted for the Irish situation. The Chartered Institute of Ecology and Environmental Management's (CIEEM's) recent advice titled 'Advice note on the Lifespan of Ecological Reports and Surveys' should be noted.

Specific attention should be given to the assessment of:

- Hedgerows and ecological connectivity
- Bird usage of the site and surrounding areas (notably for feeding and roosting)
- Bats, including building inspections, roost presence/absence activity surveys, walked transects and automated static detectors

Any losses of semi-natural habitat associated with this proposed development such as woodland, scrub, hedgerows and other habitats should in the first instance be avoided where possible, and mitigated for where not.

Mitigation measures

Mitigation measures need to be assessed against the adverse effects the project or plan is likely to cause (alone or in-combination with other projects or plans). To assess mitigation measures, the following tasks must be completed:

- List each of the measures to be introduced (e.g. noise bunds, tree planting)

RECEIVED: 16/10/2025

- Explain how the measures will avoid the adverse impacts on the site
- Explain how the measures will reduce the adverse impacts on the site

Then, for each of the listed mitigation measures:

- Provide evidence of how they will be secured and implemented and by whom
- Provide evidence of the degree of confidence in their likely success
- Provide a timescale, relative to the project or plan, when they will be implemented

Where residual impacts remain, further mitigation measures may be required.

Monitoring

Evidence should be provided of how the mitigation measures will be monitored, and, should mitigation failure be identified, how that failure will be rectified. The applicant should not use any proposed post construction monitoring as mitigation to supplement inadequate information in the assessment.

The above observations/recommendations are based on the papers submitted to this Department on a pre-planning basis and are made without prejudice to any observations that the Minister may make in the context of any consultation arising on foot of any development application referred to the Minister, by the planning authority, in his role as statutory consultee under the Planning and Development Act, 2000, as amended.

You are requested to send any further communications to this Department's Development Applications Unit (DAU) at manager.dau@npws.gov.ie, or to the following address:

Re: Scoping Request for the proposed Residential Development at Knocknacarra, Co. Galway.

Dear Sir/Madam,

The following are the comments from this Division in relation to the proposed development:

If the proposed development will involve the felling or removal of any trees, the developer must obtain a Felling License from this Department before trees are felled or removed. A Felling Licence application form can be obtained from Felling Section, Department of Agriculture, Food and the Marine, Johnstown Castle Estate, Co. Wexford. Email: felling.forests@agriculture.gov.ie or Web [gov.ie - Tree Felling Licences \(www.gov.ie\)](http://gov.ie - Tree Felling Licences (www.gov.ie))

A Felling Licence granted by the Minister for Agriculture, Food and the Marine provides authority under the Forestry Act 2014 to fell or otherwise remove a tree or trees and/or to thin a forest for silvicultural reasons. The Act prescribes the functions of the Minister and details the requirements, rights and obligations in relation to felling licences. The principal set of regulations giving further effect to the Forestry Act 2014 are the Forestry Regulations 2017 (S.I. No. 191 of 2017).

The developer should take note of the contents of Felling and Reforestation Policy document which provide a consolidated source of information on the legal and regulatory framework relating to tree felling; [gov.ie - Tree Felling Licences \(www.gov.ie\)](http://gov.ie - Tree Felling Licences (www.gov.ie)) As this development is within forest lands, particular attention should be paid to deforestation, turbulence felling and the requirement to afforest alternative lands.

In order to ensure regulated forestry operations in Ireland accord with the principles of sustainable forest management (SFM), as well fulfilling the requirements of other relevant environmental protection laws, the Department (acting through its Forest Service division) must undertake particular consultations, and give certain matters full consideration during the assessment of individual Felling Licence applications. This includes consultation with relevant bodies, the application of various protocols and procedures (e.g. Forest Service Appropriate Assessment Procedure), and the requirement for applicants on occasion to provide further information (e.g. a Natura Impact Statement).

Consequently, when the Forest Service is considering an application to fell trees, the following applies:

1. The interaction of these proposed works with the environment locally and more widely, in addition to potential direct and indirect impacts on designated sites and water, is assessed. Consultation with relevant environmental and planning authorities may be required where specific sensitivities arise (e.g. local authorities, National Parks & Wildlife Service, Inland Fisheries Ireland, and the National Monuments Service);
2. Where a tree Felling Licence application is received, the Department will publish a notice of the application before making a decision on the matter. The notice shall state that any person may make a submission to the Department within 30 days from the date of the notice. The notices are published online at: [gov.ie - Felling Licence Applications \(www.gov.ie\)](http://gov.ie - Felling Licence Applications (www.gov.ie))

3. Third parties that make a submission or observation will be informed of the decision to grant or refuse the licence, and on request, details of the conditions attached to the licence, the main reasons and considerations on which the decision to grant or refuse the licence was based, and where conditions are attached to any licence, the reasons for the conditions. Both third parties and applicants will be also informed of their right to appeal any decision within 14 days to the Forestry Appeals Committee. Felling Licence decision are published online at: gov.ie - Felling Licence Decisions \(www.gov.ie\)

It is important to note that when applying to a Local Authority, or An Bord Pleanála, for planning permission where developments are:

- a) subject to an EIA procedure (including screening in the case of a sub-threshold development) and any resulting requirement to produce an EIAR; and/or
- b) subject to an Appropriate Assessment procedure (including screening) and any resulting requirement to a Natura Impact Statement (NIS); and
- c) the proposed development in its construction or operational phases, or any works ancillary thereto, would directly or indirectly involve the felling and replanting of trees, deforestation for the purposes of conversion to another type of land use, or replacement of broadleaf high forest by conifer species,
 1. that there is a requirement inter alia under the EIA Directive for an overall assessment of the effects of the project or the alteration thereof on the environment to be undertaken, including the direct and indirect environmental impact of the project;

and
 2. pursuant to Article 2(3) of the EIA Directive, the Department of Agriculture, Food and the Marine strongly recommends that, notwithstanding the fact that a parallel consent in the form of felling licence may also have to be applied for, any EIAR and/or NIS produced in connection with the application for planning permission to the Local Planning Authority or An Bord Pleanála, should include an assessment of the impact of and measures, as appropriate, to prevent, mitigate or compensate for any significant adverse effects direct or indirect identified on the environment arising from such felling and replanting of trees, deforestation for the purposes of conversion to another type of land use, or replacement of broadleaf high forest by conifer species.
 3. Please note that there must be absolute spatial consistency between the felling licence areas submitted to DAFM (second authority) and all related planning documents submitted to the first authority in respect of the felling area(s)

Yours sincerely,

Catherine Boyce

Re: Knocknacarra Residential Development Scoping Exercise

Your Ref: 240142

Our Ref: 24/170

Dear Eileen,

Geological Survey Ireland is the national earth science agency and is a division of the Department of the Environment, Climate and Communications. We provide independent geological information and gather various data for that purpose. Please see our website for data availability. We recommend using these various data sets, when conducting the EIAR, SEA, planning and scoping processes. Use of our data or maps should be attributed correctly to 'Geological Survey Ireland'.

The publicly available data referenced/presented here, should in no way be construed as Geological Survey Ireland support for or objection to the proposed development or plan. The data is made freely available to all and can be used as independent scientific data in assessments, plans or policies. It should be noted that in many cases this data is a baseline or starting point for further site specific assessments.

With reference to your email received on the <date>, concerning the Knocknacarra Residential Development Scoping Exercise, Geological Survey Ireland would encourage use of and reference to our datasets. Please find attached a list of our publicly available datasets that may be useful to the environmental assessment and planning process. We recommend that you review this list and refer to any datasets you consider relevant to your assessment. The remainder of this letter and following sections provide more detail on some of these datasets.

Geoheritage

A national inventory of geoheritage sites known as County Geological Sites (CGSs) is managed by the Geoheritage Programme of Geological Survey Ireland. CGSs, as adopted under the National Heritage Plan, include sites that are of national importance which have been selected as the very best examples for NHA (Natural Heritage Areas) designation. NHA designation will be completed in partnership with the National Parks and Wildlife Service (NPWS). CGSs are now routinely included in County Development Plans and in the GIS of planning departments, to ensure the recognition and appropriate protection of geological heritage within the planning system. CGSs can be viewed online under the Geological Heritage tab on the online Map Viewer.

The Geological heritage audit for Galway City was published in 2021. The main report and individual County Geological Site (CGS) reports can be found here. Our records show that there are no CGSs in the vicinity of the proposed residential development.

Groundwater

Geological Survey Ireland's Groundwater and Geothermal Unit, provides advice, data and maps relating to groundwater distribution, quality and use, which is especially relevant for safe and secure drinking water supplies and healthy ecosystems. Proposed developments need to consider any potential impact on specific groundwater abstractions and on groundwater resources in general. We recommend using the groundwater maps on our Map viewer which should include: wells; drinking water source protection areas; the national map suite - aquifer, groundwater vulnerability, groundwater recharge and subsoil permeability maps. For areas underlain by limestone, please refer to the karst specific data layers (karst features, tracer test database; turlough water levels (gwlevel.ie). Background information is also provided in the Groundwater Body Descriptions. Please read all disclaimers carefully when using Geological Survey Ireland data.

The Groundwater Data Viewer indicates an aquifer classed as a 'Poor Aquifer - Bedrock which is Generally Unproductive except for Local Zones' underlies the proposed development.

RECEIVED 16/10/2023

The Groundwater Vulnerability map indicates the range of groundwater vulnerabilities within the area covered is variable. We would therefore recommend use of the Groundwater Viewer to identify areas of High to Extreme Vulnerability and ‘Rock at or near surface’ in your assessments, as any groundwater-surface water interactions that might occur would be greatest in these areas.

GWClimate is a groundwater monitoring and modelling project that aims to investigate the impact of climate change on groundwater in Ireland. This is a follow on from a previous project (GWFlood) and the data may be useful in relation to Flood Risk Assessment (FRA) and management plans. Maps and data are available on the Map viewer.

Geological Survey Ireland has completed Groundwater Protection Schemes (GWPSs) in partnership with Local Authorities, and there is now national coverage of GWPS mapping. A Groundwater Protection Scheme provides guidelines for the planning and licensing authorities in carrying out their functions, and a framework to assist in decision-making on the location, nature and control of developments and activities in order to protect groundwater. The Groundwater Protection Response overview and link to the main reports is here: <https://www.gsi.ie/en-ie/programmes-and-projects/groundwater/projects/protecting-drinking-water/what-is-drinking-water-protection/county-groundwater-protection-schemes/Pages/default.aspx>

Geohazards

Geohazards can cause widespread damage to landscapes, wildlife, human property and human life. In Ireland, landslides, flooding and coastal erosion are the most prevalent of these hazards. We recommend that geohazards be taken into consideration, especially when developing areas where these risks are prevalent, and we encourage the use of our data when doing so.

Geological Survey Ireland has information available on landslides in Ireland via the National Landslide Database and Landslide Susceptibility Map both of which are available for viewing on our dedicated Map Viewer. Associated guidance documentation relating to the National Landslide Susceptibility Map is also available.

Geological Survey Ireland also engaged in a national project on Groundwater Flooding. The data from this project may be useful in relation to Flood Risk Assessment (FRA) and management plans, and is described in more detail under ‘Groundwater’ above.

Natural Resources (Minerals/Aggregates)

Geological Survey Ireland provides data, maps, interpretations and advice on matters related to minerals, their use and their development in our Minerals section of the website. The Active Quarries, Mineral Localities and the Aggregate Potential maps are available on our Map Viewer.

We would recommend use of the Aggregate Potential Mapping viewer to identify areas of High to Very High source aggregate potential within the area. In keeping with a sustainable approach we would recommend use of our data and mapping viewers to identify and ensure that natural resources used in the proposed development are sustainably sourced from properly recognised and licensed facilities, and that consideration of future resource sterilization is considered.

Guidelines

Other Comments

Should development go ahead, all other factors considered, Geological Survey Ireland would much appreciate a copy of reports detailing any site investigations carried out. The data would be added to Geological Survey Ireland’s national database of site investigation boreholes, implemented to provide a better service to the civil engineering sector. Data can be sent to the Geological Mapping Unit, at <mailto:GeologicalMappingInfo@gsi.ie>, 01-678 2795.

Hi Eileen,

Having reviewed the EIA Scoping Document for Proposed Residential Development, Knocknacarra, Co. Galway, IFI note that the site is located within the Galway Bay North Catchment (catchment OD 31) and the Knock[Furbo]_SC_010 Sub catchment under the Water Framework Directive (WFD). There are no mapped watercourses within the site. The nearest EPA mapped watercourse to the site is the Knocknacarragh River (EPA Code: IE_WE_31K160960 – Order 1) which is at its closest to the site approximately 257 metres to the north.

IFI would recommend the incorporation of Sustainable Urban Drainage Systems (SUDS) into the proposed development. I have also attached a copy of IFIs Urban Watercourses Planning Guide for reference.

Kind Regards,

David

Dear Sir or Madam,

MKO has been engaged to carry out an Environmental Impact Assessment Report for a proposed residential development at Knocknacarra, Co. Galway. The proposed development is located approximately 3.9km east of Bearna village and will consist of c. 497 residential dwellings along with creche, open spaces and all other ancillary developments on a site measuring 8.76 hectares.

The details of the applicant and Proposed Development are outlined in the attached scoping document and cover letter.

As part of the scoping exercise for the proposed development, we would welcome any comments in relation to the proposed project.

If you have any queries, please do not hesitate to come back to me. Thank you for your time and attention.

Kind regards,
Eileen.

Inland Fisheries Ireland

OUR VISION

To place the inland fisheries resource in the best sustainable position possible for the benefit of future generations.

OUR MISSION

To protect, manage and conserve Ireland's inland fisheries and sea angling resources and to maximise their sustainability and natural biodiversity.

Inland Fisheries Ireland is a statutory body operating under the aegis of the Department of the Environment, Climate and Communications (DECC).

Its principal function is the protection and conservation of the inland fisheries resource. Inland Fisheries Ireland promotes supports, facilitates and advises the Minister on the conservation, protection, management, development and improvement of inland fisheries, including sea angling. Inland Fisheries Ireland also develops policy and national strategies relating to inland fisheries and sea angling and advises the Minister on same.

This guidance also aims to support planning processes which address predicted Climate Change impacts associated with water (Climate Change Adaptation) and encourages greater CO2 sequestration along watercourses (Climate Change Mitigation).

Rivers, lakes and streams are an integral part of our environment and if managed appropriately can significantly improve the quality of life for people living in urban areas. They can be a setting of high visual and acoustic amenity, where people find respite from the busy humdrum and stress of urban life. In this context, they provide an opportunity to develop linear parks or walks close to nature, not often associated with urban living. However, they become fragmented and degraded, losing their intrinsic value, if not planned for and managed sensitively.

This guideline document outlines an integrated watercourse protection strategy, developed by Inland Fisheries Ireland through consultation with a wide range of experts in the area. Development management standards, policies and objectives should be set per watercourse. These could be mapped in County Development Plans, Local Area Plans & masterplans and integrated with flood risk, Natura 2000 designated sites, habitat and amenities mapping.

Implementation of this strategy should, not only protect watercourses and their associated riparian zones in urban areas, but also provide other benefits important for the well-being of people living nearby. It is important to note that, the riparian zone (i.e. the bank and the vegetation running along a watercourse) is an integral part of any watercourse, serving not just ecological, but also practical functions from a human point of view. For example, the vegetation in the riparian zone provides bank stability during flood conditions and filters pollutants out of surface water before it reaches a river or lake. Sufficient setaside space adjacent to the watercourse must be allocated at the planning stage, and it is strongly recommended that this space is planned for at the forward planning stage, such as during the compilation of County and Local Area Plans. Without this space, the four steps in this guideline cannot be accommodated. These steps are described in the context of an overall riparian buffer zone (i.e. strip of vegetated land running parallel to the river, which acts as a buffer against negative human development or activity). Again - this Riparian Buffer Zone MUST however be sufficiently wide to protect the river.

The recommended buffer zone width for larger river channels (>10m) is 35m to 60m and for smaller channels (<10m) is 20m or greater. The determined width should be tailored to site specific circumstances, river reach or lakeshore characteristics. It is important that the buffer zone is wide enough to protect the ecological integrity of the river (including emergent, marginal and bankside vegetation) and takes into account the human history of the area. Wider buffer zones can be multifunctional in the urban environment if linked and managed appropriately, bringing greater benefits to the wider community.

This riparian buffer is subdivided into three separate zones, each with a different function, width, vegetation type and use. It is important to note that, the urban landscape, unlike agricultural land comprises of many hard non-biological features and therefore a greater buffer width is needed than that normally associated with the protection of water courses from farming or forestry.

THE FOUR MAJOR STEPS IN THE STRATEGY ARE:

- STEP 1. PROTECT THE STREAMSIDE RIPARIAN ZONE.
- STEP 2. CREATE A MIDDLE RIPARIAN ZONE – CAN INCLUDE AMENITY INFRASTRUCTURE, EG. FOOTPATHS.
- STEP 3. CREATE AN OUTER ZONE TO INCORPORATE SUSTAINABLE URBAN DRAINAGE SYSTEMS
- STEP 4. REHABILITATE THE RIVER ITSELF TO RECREATE DIVERSITY OF INSTREAM FEATURES FOUND IN NATURAL CHANNELS

Protection of the riparian zone doesn't preclude amenity use, and this guide strongly advocates the incorporation of amenity uses (walks, angling etc) into the (middle or outer) Riparian Buffer Zone, so long as it is done sensitively and with minimal impact on the water and riparian environment. The outer zone can be linked to a network of linear parks, picnic areas and other amenity areas where appropriate. These can provide greater space for flood protection and Sustainable Urban Drainage Solutions.

Culverting and piping of small streams and drains should not be permitted except under exceptional circumstances and only through agreement with Inland Fisheries Ireland. Drains should be incorporated into a SUDS network

Wild Irish Rivers

Gently flowing watercourse with protective riparian vegetation

Wild watercourses are three dimensional systems, the channel sculpted by water from the surrounding landscape and moulded by local vegetation over time. Marginal vegetation, such as reeds and sedges, together with the bank vegetation form an important part of river ecosystems, providing rivers with much of their character, whether they are small upland cascading streams or large slow moving lowland rivers. Even underwater there are holes, nooks, crannies and shallow gravelly areas which scientists refer to as "riffles" where salmon and trout spawn. Deeper pools hold eel, adult salmon and trout, and often coarse fish species, such as roach, pike and even eel. The bank vegetation not only protects the river from pollutants, but is also important for cover and as a food source for fish and other aquatic animals such as otters, dippers, herons, bats, crayfish and even freshwater pearl mussels. A wild river, with the riparian zone intact is not only good for biodiversity and wildlife generally, but is pleasing to the eye. Therefore, wild rivers are of high amenity value to the public, providing a range of recreational pursuits from fishing to walking.

This guide aims to provide a basic template for the protection and enhancement of rivers in urban areas, and bring the positive benefits of the wild river to built up areas. By using this guide during the forward planning process, we are confident that "wild rivers" and other watercourses not only have a future in Ireland, but will enhance urban environments, if adequately protected in Local, County, Regional and National Development Plans and processes. This will require prescriptive planning requirements to be incorporated into planning permissions to ensure that developments do not degrade watercourses nor reduce their value as a public good. Developed appropriately, a river can enhance a development and even increase the value of properties.

Urban Impacts

EXAMPLES OF DAMAGED WATERCOURSES DUE TO INSENSITIVE URBAN DEVELOPMENT

To plan for appropriate development along watercourses in urban or expanding urban centres, it is helpful to learn from past experiences. The following “what not to do” examples of developments proximal to watercourses have been identified by fisheries staff as problematic. A brief explanation is given for each case, all of which demonstrate that these impacts can be wide ranging; from amenity loss and loss of biodiversity to increased flooding and pollution impacts. All of these developments have been built too close to the watercourse.

COMMONLY ENCOUNTERED PROBLEMS ARE:

RESTRICTED PUBLIC AND ANGLER ACCESS.

INCREASED SURFACE RUNOFF LEADING TO UNNATURAL RIVER FLOW REGIMES.

INCREASED FLOODING AND EROSION PROBLEMS.

LOSS OF COVER AND FOOD FOR FISH AND AQUATIC ANIMALS.

LOSS OF FOOD AND HABITAT FOR RIPARIAN ANIMALS AND PLANTS.

LOSS OF RIPARIAN AREA AND FRAGMENTATION OF RIPARIAN CORRIDOR RESULTING IN A REDUCTION IN BIODIVERSITY.

OFTEN THE INTRODUCTION OF NON NATIVE PLANTS (SUCH AS JAPANESE KNOTWEED) IN IMPORTED SOIL.

LOSS OF AESTHETIC VALUE AND A POTENTIAL QUALITY AMENITY FOR PUBLIC UTILISATION.

POORLY DESIGNED CULVERTS AND BRIDGES RESULTING IN BARRIERS TO FISH PASSAGE / NATURAL MOVEMENT OF RIVERBED MATERIALS

The riparian corridor is permanently fragmented by this development, part of which now sits on the riparian zone. There is no bank cover for fish and the movement of mammals such as otters are affected by the absence of bank vegetation, which they often use for cover. Surface runoff from the adjacent carpark and building enters the river untreated. Public access is completely restricted. If this type of development continues further up the catchment, the river will be in serious trouble.

RECEIVED: 16/10/2025

This river has been straightened and canalised. All the larger instream material has been removed, resulting in the loss of pools and instream habitat variability (riffles and runs etc.) necessary to support older fish, invertebrates and other aquatic fauna and flora. The river banks have been engineered, leaving bank slopes that are unnaturally steep. In addition, the bank to the right of the picture has been planted with non-native vegetation, which is of lower biodiversity value to fish and other aquatic animals. Also, on closer inspection, it will be noted that grass cuttings (the light brown material) from the adjacent lawn have been dumped over the fence. These in turn will leach nutrients into the river. Dumping of grass cuttings is a common problem associated with developments, which have gardens bordering water courses. Public access to this river is completely restricted.

The riparian zone has been replaced with vertical rock armouring. There is no buffer between the carpark above and surface water runoff. Hydrocarbons, heavy metals, surfactants and other pollutants associated with motor vehicles, will enter untreated into the river through the drainage pipe, every time it rains. In addition, soil brought in by the developer has brought in an invasive non-native plant, Japanese knotweed (green plant growing between rocks). This plant is undesirable along river banks as it can outcompete native vegetation and is of low biodiversity value. The area covered by Japanese knotweed, will become much bigger over time and bring more ecological problems to the river. Japanese knotweed often causes infrastructural problems to a development itself; in this case it will undermine the rock armouring. Japanese knotweed is an invasive species listed on the Third Schedule of the EU Habitats Regulations 2011 as amended.

Riverbank Infilling

PROTECT THE STREAMSIDE ZONE FROM INFILLING

Infilling of land adjacent to rivers, prior or during development, is a recurring problem which can have serious consequences for flooding, local biodiversity and the riparian zone. Frequently, land is raised to accommodate a development and imported soil and/or builders' rubble is dumped right up to the water's edge. This is sometimes done under a waste permit (prior to the construction of the development itself) and it is important that local authorities don't license such activities close to watercourses. Builders' rubble (cement, building blocks, plastic, steel bars etc.) is not only unsightly but will alter the pH of the soil and its permeability, reducing its ability to support marginal vegetation associated with the area. The resulting steeper riverbank slopes present problems for public and angler access and interfere with natural flood conveyance. In some instances the spoil can be hazardous and potentially dangerous.

PROTECT IMPORTANT FEATURES ASSOCIATED WITH WATERCOURSES.

The development of the Riparian Buffer Zone should not impact or replace important ecological or geological features such as wetlands or glacial valleys of high amenity. In some instances it will be necessary to prescribe protection for these important ecological features adjacent to the riparian zone from infilling in local and county development plans. Work around them and incorporate their protection into the forward planning process.

The streamside zone should not be infilled as this impacts on its ecological characteristics and increases flood risk. Where wetlands occur, these must be protected as they provide important functions such as water regulation and retention. Wetlands are of high biodiversity value.

Note: Special Areas of Conservation and Special Protection Areas may require measures beyond the scope of this document and should be considered on a case by case basis taking into account the conservation objectives and special conservation interests of the sites.

Site left in a dangerous condition with vertical upstanding rebar (almost invisible amongst the autumn leaves) along the river bank. A potential hazard to children and anglers.

To accommodate this development the adjacent land has been raised too close to the river. This recently built retaining wall almost entirely eliminates the riparian zone and eliminates anglers access. The height of this wall has also introduced another hazard to the area, arguably more dangerous than the river itself to children and local residents.

Builders rubble is unsightly and reduces biodiversity value of the riparian zone

Areas of high amenity should be protected from encroachment and be clearly demarcated on GIS, and should be readily accessible to planners. This river is not only an area of high amenity but also a Special Area of Conservation. The development on the left hand bank is much too close to the river. Public access is annexed and significant ecological impact has occurred to the riparian zone and to the river itself. The gabions in the foreground (part of a separate development) are also undesirable, and should not be used on river banks as they are unsightly and restrict riparian vegetation growth. Areas of high amenity value can include, areas of high aesthetic appeal due to unusual or dramatic morphology caused by geological or ecological features such as glacial valleys or alluvial woodlands.

Natural floodplains. Infilling of natural floodplains and other natural features move the flooding problem elsewhere, often with catastrophic consequences to local communities. Floodplains should be protected and never infilled or built upon.

Land reclamation. Infilling of land with a view to future development, alters the natural channel bank profile resulting in unnaturally steep banks and a potentially more hazardous watercourse during flood conditions. This bank should be rehabilitated by sloping its profile back to mimic the natural river.

Infilling of a high amenity glacial valley area. In this example, the river is down to the right. Not only does this infilling of material (several meters high in places) introduce silt to the river during high rainfall events, but also degrades the riparian woodland and the area as an amenity for the wider community.

Builders' rubble on the rivers edge. Infilling of riparian zone with builders' rubble, which is unsightly and hazardous. The valley, a high amenity area, has also been infilled and degraded.

Four Steps to Good Riparian & River Planning for Urban Areas

RECEIVED: 16/10/2025

STEP 1 – PROTECT STREAMSIDE ZONE >10M

- ENSURE SUFFICIENT SPACE IS SET-ASIDE , I.E. >10M.
- LEAVE INTACT IF IN AN UNDISTURBED NATURAL SITE.
- IF DISTURBED, LANDSCAPE APPROPRIATELY.
- PLANT WITH NATIVE MARGINAL AND EMERGENT VEGETATION.

STEP 2 – CONSTRUCT MIDDLE ZONE 15M-30M

- ENSURE SUFFICIENT SPACE SET-ASIDE , I.E. >15M.
- LEAVE INTACT IF IN AN UNDISTURBED NATURAL SITE.
- IF DISTURBED, LANDSCAPE APPROPRIATELY.
- CREATE AMENITY WALKS ETC.
- PLANT WITH NATIVE TREES AND VEGETATION.

STEP 3 – CONSTRUCT OUTER ZONE >8M

- ENSURE SUFFICIENT SPACE SET-ASIDE , I.E. >8M.
- LEAVE INTACT IF IN AN UNDISTURBED NATURAL SITE.
- IF DISTURBED, LANDSCAPE APPROPRIATELY.
- INCORPORATE SUDS (E.G. SWALES, RETENTION PONDS ETC.).
- ENSURE SUDS LINK APPROPRIATELY TO DEVELOPMENT IN A TREATMENT TRAIN.
- CONSIDER WIDER AMENITY USES IF APPROPRIATE.

STEP 4 – REHABILITATE INSTREAM CHANNEL

- IF WATERCOURSE WAS PREVIOUSLY DEGRADED BY DRAINAGE, REHABILITATE WITH APPROPRIATE HABITAT RESTORATION TECHNIQUES.
- CONTACT INLAND FISHERIES IRELAND FOR ADVICE.
- RECREATE HABITAT VARIABILITY.
- CONSIDER CREATION OF ANGLING POOLS IF APPROPRIATE.
- CONSIDER SAFETY REQUIREMENTS (E.G. AVOID STEEP BANKS.)
- ENSURE WORK IS CARRIED OUT TO A HIGH ECOLOGICAL STANDARD. CONSULT WITH IFI FOR FURTHER ADVICE

Three Buffer Subzones

RECEIVED: 16/10/2025

Rehabilitate the river

Protect the streamside riparian zone

Utilise middle riparian buffer zone for amenity use. Make space for high water flood events. Align with Flood Zone A, if appropriate Potentially align middle and outer zones with Flood Zones (<https://www.floodinfo.ie>) & Local Authority information.

CHARACTERISTICS	STREAMSIDE ZONE >10M	MIDDLE ZONE 15M-30M	OUTER ZONE >8M
FUNCTION	Protect the physical integrity of the stream ecosystem	Provide distance between upland development and streamside zone. Acts as a sump/filter for nutrients and sediment	Prevent encroachment and filter hard surface runoff
WIDTH	Minimum 10m plus wetland and other habitat	15-30m depending on stream	8m minimum setback to structures
VEGETATIVE TARGET	Native riparian vegetation	Managed woodland, some clearing/open space allowed	Woodland encouraged, but usually-turfgrass
ALLOWABLE USES	Very restricted except for fishing or walking trails	Restricted, e.g. some recreational uses such as bike path or larger footpaths can function as a flood zone*	Unrestricted e.g. residential uses, including lawn, swales, most stormwater treatment will occur here
SUPPORTING OTHER PLANNING OBJECTIVES	All zones but especially the streamside zone should support Biodiversity including EU Habitats Directive objectives Potentially Align with Flood Zones (https://www.floodinfo.ie) & Local Authority information. Walking trails should not run through sensitive ecological habitats. It is recommended that a multi-disciplinary team including an ecologist and flood risk expert determine the appropriate zonation and allowable uses. No artificial lighting is recommended for the streamside zone and artificial lighting should be restricted unless absolutely necessary in the middle zone. LEDs should be warm white to minimise disturbance to wildlife

- Steps 1 (i.e. create stream side zone) and 3 (i.e. create outer zone) are essential for all streams irrespective of size.
- Steps 4 (i.e. rehabilitate channel) and 2 (i.e. create middle zone) are strongly recommended and arguably necessary for rivers with amenity potential, particularly in the context of social cohesion in urban areas.

INCORPORATE BUFFER ZONATION INTO LOCAL AREA PLANS

Incorporation of this guideline into local area plans will protect the watercourse and ensure sufficient space is set aside for appropriate amenity and SuDS provision.

Climate change is expected to have diverse and wide ranging impacts on Ireland's environment, society and economic development, including managed and natural ecosystems, water resources, agriculture and food security, human health and coastal zones. The most immediate risks to Ireland which can be influenced by climate change are predominantly those associated with changes in extreme events, such as floods, precipitation and storms. These factors should be integrated in every decision made when planning for watercourse management.

* It is recommended to use this guide in association with the OPW Flood Maps (<http://www.floodmaps.ie/>).

Step 1: Protect Streamside Zone

THE STREAMSIDE ZONE

STREAMSIDE RIPARIAN ZONE
MINIMUM WIDTH >10M

The streamside zone is the zone nearest the river and provides essential habitat for marginal aquatic plants and food and cover for aquatic animals, including fish.

This is the most ecologically sensitive zone and should be either left alone if in its natural state, or if degraded, planted with appropriate emergent aquatic vegetation and a mixture of native trees along the bank itself. Suitable native tree species include:- alder, birch, aspen and willow, all of which do well on wet soils. In time, they will overhang the streambank providing shade and food insects for fish. Ash and oak are also suitable but require dry acid soils. Holly, rowan, hazel, guelder rose, elder and crab apple grow well on drier fertile banks (Fossitt, 2000; Anon, 2000). Plant with Irish rather than imported "native varieties" as the vegetation community should ideally be genetically similar to that which occurs naturally in the locality. This zone is suitable for angling if appropriately managed, e.g., leave occasional open space for casting of bait into fishing areas such as pools. The local Inland Fisheries Ireland office can provide advice on the construction of angling pools.

In this example the river bank has been replaced by builders rubble and is too steep. Builders rubble is not a suitable substrate for riparian plants and river edge vegetation with the consequence of a severely diminished riparian zone.

BENEFITS OF STREAMSIDE ZONE

The streamside zone, if sufficiently wide and managed appropriately, will

- Filter out pollutants and sediment from overland surface runoff.
- Provide a refuge for insects and animals with close affinity to rivers (e.g., otters, kingfishers and dragonflies).
- Provide habitat necessary to support diverse fish and other aquatic life.
- Provide amenity and recreation for local people and visitors to the area (fishing, birdwatching, etc.).
- Enhance flood alleviation through increased channel stability and improved resilience to the impacts of climate disruption.
- Bring about greater public appreciation and reduce the risk of dumping of unwanted rubbish.

Example of a suitable riparian zone showing marginal vegetation.

Step 2: Construct Middle Zone

THE MIDDLE ZONE

MIDDLE RIPARIAN ZONE
RECOMMENDED WIDTH 15M-30M

The next zone out from the river is the middle zone. This zone is best developed as a narrow woodland area and planted with an appropriate mixture of native woodland species.

This zone is suitable for human usage and the habitat is also important for wildlife. Recreational activities such as walking (permeable paved or gravel footpaths) or cycle lanes can be planned for incorporation into this zone. Planting of appropriate tree and shrub species is important; species such as poplar, Scots pine, European larch, ash, oak, alder, birch, aspen, willow, holly, rowan, hazel, guelder rose, elder and crab apple are suitable.

Plant with Irish rather than imported "native varieties" as the vegetation community should ideally be genetically similar to that which occurs naturally in the locality. This zone could also be planned to provide for projected extra water retention. Take EU Habitats and Birds Directive objectives into consideration if applicable.

BENEFITS OF MIDDLE ZONE

The middle zone, if sufficiently wide and managed appropriately, will

- Provide amenity and a recreation area for local people and visitors (fishing, scenic walks, etc.). This zone is suitable for high impact recreational pursuits, such as cycling and horse riding.
- Provide a refuge for a range of woodland and grassland species.
- Filter out pollutants and sediment from overland surface runoff.
- Act as a carbon sink between the outer and streamside zone.

A path through the middle zone surrounded by native trees makes for a very pleasant walk and is an attractive amenity for people living in urban areas. The path should be kept sufficiently well back from the watercourse to minimise disruption to aquatic wildlife. Smaller tracks can be constructed to designated fishing or viewing points closer to the watercourse itself, if appropriate. Consult with local IFI office for advice

Step 3: Construct Outer Zone

THE OUTER ZONE

OUTER ZONE
MINIMUM 8M SET BACK FROM HARD SURFACES

The outer zone is the first line of defense against urban development. It is recommended that it is also developed to receive and treat surface water runoff, through the incorporation of Sustainable Urban Drainage Systems (SuDS). All development sites, not just those adjacent to watercourses should incorporate SuDS, and these should be arranged in a treatment train to maximize their effectiveness (see below for more detail). The outer zone can be expanded to merge with recreational playing fields or picnic spaces. The outer zone must not be enclosed or incorporated into private gardens. If enclosed, home owners may subsequently pave or build on it, effectively impacting on the zone.

SUSTAINABLE URBAN DRAINAGE SYSTEM (SUDS)

Culverting, draining, direct piping of storm waters and the construction of hard surfaces too close to watercourses reduces their aesthetic qualities, impacts on and eliminates fish and other wildlife, and reduces stream function from a human health perspective. Sustainable Urban Drainage Systems (SuDS) is a suite of techniques developed to manage and reduce the impact of storm waters on river systems, by reducing the surface run off rate from developed sites compared to conventional systems (shores, pipes etc.). They are also effective at removing certain pollutants. Developed internationally, the efficiency of these techniques have been conclusively demonstrated by scientific research and now form an integral part of the Greater Dublin Drainage Strategy Strategy and most County Development Plans to manage surface waters from developed areas.

It is recommended that the outer zone is developed to incorporate some of these SuDS techniques such as SWALES (constructed watercourses, which are shaped or graded in earth materials and planted with site suitable vegetation) and constructed wetlands. These can be linked back into the SuDS treatment train, starting from site specific techniques (such as water butts or tanks and permeable paving) and subsequently linking onto larger wetlands prior to discharging to the watercourse. For further information on SuDS check out (CIRIA, 2015). Excellent examples of the different SuDS methods available can be found on www.dublincity.ie.

BENEFITS OF OUTER BUFFER SUB-ZONE AND SUDS

If Sustainable Urban Drainage Systems are incorporated into the outer zone then the following should occur:

- A significant reduction in stormwater runoff rates to the watercourse.
- An improvement in flood alleviation, reducing erosion and other flood impacts downstream.
- Increased water quality - filtering out of pollutants and sediment from overland surface runoff.
- A provision of additional habitat for species and an overall increase in biodiversity of the area.
- Depending on SuDS type, additional amenity value can be added to an area (e.g., parks, playing areas etc).

Management of SUDS should ensure that invasive species are controlled should they occur and good biosecurity protocols followed.

Surface runoff from a car park during a spell of heavy rain. This car park is covered in a hard impermeable surface with grit and organic matter clearly visible in the foreground, which eventually is washed into the watercourse. The high concentration of suspended solids can be seen clearly as it enters and discolours the watercourse (see left inset image)

A small constructed stormwater wetland removes pollutants and reduces the impact of stormflow runoff on the watercourse. Note the green channel in the foreground, which feeds the water from the development through a system of interconnected swales.

Table 1. Typical pollutant removal rates of a stormwater wetland

Pollutant	% Removal *
Total Suspended Solids	60-80%
Total Phosphorous	20-40%
Total Nitrogen	20-40%
Bacteria	60-80%
Copper	60-80%

• various sources; see page 18 for further information

A SWALE is a relatively simple but effective SuDS technique to construct. The example above is known as a dry swale and during storm water events, surface water runs off the adjacent hard surface (road), and attenuates in the SWALE, and is filtered out slowly to a receiving drainage network. This effectively slows water runoff and removes pollutants.

Table 2. Typical pollutant removal rates of a SWALE

Pollutant	% Removal *
Total Suspended Solids	80-90%
Total Phosphorous	29-65%
Total Nitrogen	30-50%
Bacteria	50%
Metals	14-19%
Hydrocarbons	100%

Step 4: Rehabilitate Instream Channel

REHABILITATE AND RESTORE

REHABILITATE WATERCOURSE

INSTREAM REHABILITATION

Wild watercourses are usually complex systems defined by the surrounding topography, geology, vegetation and hydrology. The natural form of rivers can range from slow meandering riffles, glide, pool sequences to steeper and straighter step pool sequences. In Ireland, this natural physical form is often lost in rivers close to urban environments due to river engineering. Drainage and straightening of river channels result in a loss of habitat for fish and other aquatic organisms. Therefore, when planning for rivers in urban areas, it is important that such channels are rehabilitated to compensate for this habitat loss. A range of instream rehabilitation techniques have been developed by Inland Fisheries Ireland. These techniques have the added advantage of increasing river stability, reducing unnaturally high rates of river bank erosion and bedload movement (both of which are flooding hazards), and improve river biodiversity. They can include soft-engineering techniques, which use nature based solutions and native vegetation such as willow to work with natural river processes. In other situations, especially where natural river processes are constrained (e.g., in canalised river channels), a range of harder engineering techniques may be required; such as randomly placed boulders, deflectors, insertion of gravel and spawning beds, artificial riffles, weirs, log and Christmas tree bank protection, and rip-rap (stone armouring) to increase habitat availability inside the channel (see O'Grady 2006 for detail). In some cases it may be necessary to landscape the entire channel, for example to reduce bank slope and reintroduce meanders. It is essential that personnel with the appropriate experience in river rehabilitation advise on instream habitats and it is recommended that Inland Fisheries Ireland is contacted for advice. Angling pools for children to go fishing can be placed at desired locations using these instream rehabilitation techniques, the design of which will be determined by the target species and the type of watercourse. Consider also removing or adjusting barriers that prevent the passage of migrating fish and improving the flow of water and sediments - EU Biodiversity Strategy 2030.

BENEFITS OF INSTREAM REHABILITATION

If constructed to Inland Fisheries Ireland standards then instream rehabilitation works will:

- Improve channel stability by reducing excessive erosion and improving flood conveyance.
- Dramatically improve the rivers' holding capacity for fish (2-5 fold increases are not uncommon) by recreating habitat.
- Improve aesthetics of a watercourse and its value as an amenity.
- Improve biodiversity in the area, not only for fish but also crayfish, otters, dippers, grey wagtails and other wildlife.
- Provide angling pools for kids to fish.

Example of rehabilitation works on the River Gloscha (Mulcair River catchment) in County Limerick. Here a series of alternating deflectors reintroduce sinuosity and riffle glide pools sequence characteristic for this type of channel

Random boulders were introduced into the channel for instream fish cover, greater hydraulic diversity and perching areas for dipper, yellow wagtail and otters. Emergent vegetation and grass have established themselves on the deflectors, significantly increasing local biodiversity and providing additional cover and food for fish, bats and birds.

This step will most likely require collaboration with the Local Authority and possibly other agencies to take a hydromorphological approach appropriate for the reach. It offers an opportunity to bring about an 'enhanced' amenity now required as a result of the higher density development prescribed under government guidance.

Providing Tangible Benefits to Urban Communities: Climate Action, Flooding, Mental Health, Positive Living & Reduced Crime

RECEIVED: 16/10/2025

WIDER BENEFITS TO SOCIETY

The rehabilitated watercourse with its Riparian Buffer Zone (incorporating SuDS) can be developed even further to improve the overall amenity value for the public. The benefits of nature to individuals stress-levels and mental health in general is well documented. More recently studies have shown that the impact of nature and green areas have significant health benefits for wider society. These include improvements in community well-being, recreation, recovery from serious illness and reduced anti-social behaviour.

Studies have even found a reduction in violent crime rates in greener areas. The incorporation of the Riparian Buffer Zone and the restored river into a network of linear parks, walks and cycle routes in the urban environment is a logical progression as the riparian buffer should provide some of the green space needed. Walking is now the most popular outdoor activity in Ireland, and schemes such as the Slí na Slàinte offer ways to manage such routes effectively. Rivers offer an ideal opportunity to develop waymarked walks in urban areas (away from hazardous traffic) which are not only safe, but have high visual and acoustic appeal. This must be an important consideration for urban planning, as obesity (in particular childhood obesity) has been identified as one of the biggest health threats in Ireland today. The design of the walk and green spaces can be planned on a site by site basis, but ideally should preserve and compliment the longitudinal riparian corridor.

THE WHOLE IS GREATER THAN THE SUM OF THE PARTS

Any one of the four steps will result in an improved watercourse and amenity in the urban environment. However, the combination of steps compliment each other, working cumulatively to maximise protection of the watercourse and ensuring that it serves as a high quality amenity for the local community. In addition flood risk to property and infrastructure should be significantly reduced. Therefore, it is recommended that this system is incorporated into future planning decisions with regard to local area and regional plans. These plans need to be prescriptive as to what is expected from developers, and the responsibility of implementation and maintenance needs to be examined carefully. In other words, set aside sufficient buffer width, landscape and plant appropriately, incorporate SuDS if possible, rehabilitate the watercourse itself including angling pools for kids, and design amenity infrastructure such as paths for the middle and outer zones. Limited nature trails may be considered for the streamside zone. Set-aside riparian zones not only function as amenity areas but can also be important buffers for protecting urban buildings and infrastructure (and the local economy) against severe flood events such as the example above in Golden, Co. Tipperary on the River Suir. Here the river regularly floods into the park which alleviates pressure further downstream and making space for water. Implementation of the recommendations in this guidance document will increase the resilience of urban areas to predicted impacts of Climate Change. Making space for water and biodiversity will reduce flood risk and increase environmental quality for those living in urbanised areas.

Rivers can provide immense pleasure for children as well as providing a natural educational setting if managed with safety and biodiversity in mind. Degraded rivers on the other hand tend to be low in biodiversity, lacking character and amenity value, and by virtue of the damage caused by physical engineering are often more dangerous than their natural counterparts.

Inland Fisheries Ireland is the statutory agency responsible for inland fisheries in Ireland. It operates under the aegis of the Department of the Environment, Climate and Communications. The principal function of Inland Fisheries Ireland is set out under Section 7 (2) of the Inland Fisheries Act of 2010. This is the protection, management and conservation of the inland fisheries resource. Our mission is to protect, manage and conserve Ireland's inland fisheries and sea angling resources and to maximise their sustainability and natural biodiversity for you and for future generations. We achieve this through working with the Community, Government, its agencies, and Business.

Dear Ms. Corley,

Thank you for your correspondence of 30 April 2024 regarding the above. Transport Infrastructure Ireland's (TII's) position in relation to your enquiry is as follows.

TII will endeavour to consider and respond to planning applications referred to it, given its status and duties as a statutory consultee under the Planning Acts. The approach to be adopted by TII in making such submissions or comments will seek to uphold official policy and guidelines, as outlined in the Section 28 Ministerial Guidelines 'Spatial Planning and National Roads Guidelines for Planning Authorities' (DoECLG, 2012). Regard should also be had to other relevant guidance available at www.TII.ie.

The issuing of this correspondence is provided as best practice guidance only and does not prejudice TII's statutory right to make any observations, requests for further information, objections or appeals, following the examination of any valid planning application referred.

With respect to EIAR Scoping issues, the recommendations indicated below provide only general guidance for the preparation of an EIAR, which may affect the national road network.

The developer should have regard, inter alia, to the following:

- Consultations should be had with the relevant Local Authority/National Roads Design Office, with regard to the locations of existing and future national road schemes, i.e. the N6 Galway City Ring Road in the vicinity of the site.
- TII would be specifically concerned as to potential significant impacts the development would have on the national road network (and junctions with national roads) in the proximity of the proposed development.
- The developer should assess visual impacts from existing national roads.
- The developer should have regard to any Environmental Impact Statement and all conditions and/or modifications imposed by An Bord Pleanála regarding road schemes in the area. The developer should, in particular, have regard to any potential cumulative impacts.
- The developer, in preparing EIAR, should have regard to TII Publications (formerly DMRB and the Manual of Contract Documents for Road Works).
- The developer, in preparing EIAR, should have regard to TII's Environmental Assessment and Construction Guidelines, including the 'Good Practice Guidance for the Treatment of Noise during the Planning of National Road Schemes' (National Roads Authority (NRA), 2014).

- The EIAR should consider the 'European Communities (Environmental Noise) Regulations, 2018, (S.I. no. 549 of 2018)', and, in particular, how the development will affect future action plans by the relevant competent authority. The developer may need to consider the incorporation of noise barriers to reduce noise impacts (see 'Good Practice Guidance for the Treatment of Noise during the Planning of National Road Schemes (NRA, 2014)').
- It would be important that, where appropriate, subject to meeting the appropriate thresholds and criteria and having regard to best practice, a Traffic and Transport Assessment (TTA) be carried out in accordance with relevant guidelines, noting traffic volumes attending the site and traffic routes to/from the site, with reference to impacts on the national road network and junctions of lower category roads with national roads.

While it is noted that the EIAR Scoping Report makes reference to the use of the IHT Guidelines for Traffic Impact Assessment, in relation to national roads, TII's 'Traffic and Transport Assessment Guidelines' (2014) should be referred to in relation to proposed development with potential impacts on the national road network. The scheme promoter is also advised to have regard to Section 2.2 of TII's TTA Guidelines, which addresses requirements for sub-threshold TTA.

Any improvements required to facilitate development should be identified. It will be the responsibility of the developer to pay for the costs of any improvements to national roads to facilitate the private development proposed, as TII will not be responsible for such costs.

- Regard should be had to the Galway Transport Strategy's Public Transport and Sustainable Mobility Provisions and any requirements arising, including any future update to the Strategy.
- The designers are asked to consult TII Publications to determine whether a Road Safety Audit is required.
- In the interests of maintaining the safety and standard of the national road network, the EIAR should identify the methods/techniques proposed for any works traversing/in proximity to the national road network.
- TII recommends that the applicant/developer should clearly identify haul routes proposed and fully assess the network to be traversed. Where abnormal 'weight' loads are a feature of the development, e.g., turbine or substation components, separate structure approvals/permits and other licences may be required in connection with the proposed haul route. All national road structures on the haul route through all the relevant County Council administrative areas should be checked by the applicant/developer to confirm their capacity to accommodate any abnormal 'weight' load proposed.

Notwithstanding any of the above, the developer should be aware that this list is non-exhaustive, thus site and development specific issues should be addressed in accordance with best practice.

I hope that this information is of assistance to you.

Yours sincerely,

Andrew Moore
Senior Regulatory & Administration Executive

Hi Eileen,

Thank you for contacting Data Requests.

Data Requests supply records of Uisce Éireann Infrastructure in GIS format (i.e. shp, .gdb, .tab, or .dwg).

If you wish to proceed to acquire GIS digital data, we ask that you complete a Non-Disclosure Agreement Form (1b - attached). In Appendix (Page 4) Sections a-h of this form can you please ensure that all sections are completed as per the outline shown in the attached guide. If a section is not relevant indicate this with N/A. Can you also ensure that you detail the nature of the data that you require, for example Water Distribution and/or Sewer Network and the format you are requesting (i.e. .dwg, tab, or .shp format) please refer to the attached guide 1a to assist you.

If you wish to acquire PDF format/map, please ignore the NDA form and reply stating you only require PDF maps for your location.

To speed up the process we ask that you send us a digital GIS polygon(s) (.dwg or .shp in ING) that outlines the extent and location of the area(s) that you require data. This is used to extract the GIS Digital data that you require.

Please Note:

1. Uisce Éireann is responsible for issuing Water & Wastewater digital data in GIS format and will issue the data in one format only (.shp, .gdb, .tab, or .dwg).
2. Local Authorities are responsible for maintaining and issuing Stormwater data. Uisce Éireann does not issue Stormwater data.

Due to the large volume of data requests received daily, incomplete, or inaccurately completed forms will result in delays to issuing data. Consequently, the sole responsibility lies with the requestor to ensure that the above guidelines are adhered to, and relevant documentation is submitted.

Should you have any questions in relation to the above please do not hesitate to get in contact.

Kind regards,

Ryan Dean

Dear Sir/Madam,

Please find attached to this email a Scoping Document for an Environmental Impact Assessment MKO are undertaking for a proposed residential development in Knocknacarra, Co. Galway. The proposed development is located approximately 3.3km west of Galway city centre and 3.9km east of Bearna village.

The proposed development being applied for under this current planning application includes the construction of circa 510 residential units, open spaces, creche and other related infrastructure of an area that measures approximately 8.76 hectares.

As part of the scoping exercise for the proposed development, we would welcome any comments in relation to the proposed project.

If you have any queries, please do not hesitate to come back to me. Thank you for your time and attention.

Kind regards,
Eileen.

Re: EIA Scoping Document for Proposed Residential Development, Knocknacarra, Co.
Galway

The Department of Transport welcomes the opportunity to comment on the Environmental Impact Assessment Report for a proposed residential development at Knocknacarra, Co. Galway

There have been important policy developments which are relevant to accessible, integrated and sustainable public transport. The Department of Transport (DoT) considers these should be reflected in the proposed development (Page 11 of EIA Scoping Document, reference 3.2.1 Galway City Council Development Plan 2023 – 2029).

Accessible public transport for All, and especially for Persons with Disabilities, Reduced mobility and Older People

- the “whole of Government” National Disability Inclusion Strategy (NDIS) 2017-2022 includes specific actions assigned to local authorities. For example, action 108 relates to the ‘dishing’ of footpaths and action 109 relates to accessible infrastructure, including bus stops. Lack of dishing is often cited as a major concern for wheelchair users. The National Disability Inclusion Strategy came to an end at the end of 2022. The Department of Children, Equality, Disability, Integration and Youth are working with the Disability Inclusion Strategy Steering Group to commence work on the development of a UNCRPD implementation strategy.
- the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNCRPD) ratified by Ireland in 2018. The UNCRPD puts obligations on State Parties to ensure access for persons with disabilities to, for example, the physical environment and transportation in both urban and rural areas.

- the Design Manual for Urban Roads and Streets (DMURS) Interim Advice Note – Covid-19 Pandemic Response published in 2020. It includes guidance that designers should ensure that
 - measures align with the principles of universal design,
 - consider Government policy on accessibility for people with disabilities and
 - consult people with disabilities to further appraise measures.
- References in the draft Plan to the 2019 version of DMURS should be replaced with references to the 2020 DMURS Interim Advice Note – Covid-19 Pandemic Response.
- To make public transport fully accessible to people with disabilities requires a 'whole journey approach'. This refers to all elements that constitute a journey from the starting point to destination. Local Authorities are a key stakeholder by ensuring a universal design approach to the built environment'. This including footpaths, tactile paving, cycle paths, roads, pedestrian crossing points, town greenways and bus stops/shelters.
