SSE's latest reports admit uncertainty about the impact on the coast and sandbank. They admit likely disturbance to harbour porpoise, a protected species.

They were asked to consider alternative locations and didn't. Both breach EU law.

An Coimisiún Pleanála cannot lawfully grant consent on this basis. The EU is already taking Ireland to court for failing to protect sandbanks, reefs, dolphins and seabirds — the same habitats this wind farm will affect. If ACP grant permission it will result in a further breach of our obligations under EU law.
