Dear Sir Madam,

Further to yours of the 26th August 2025, I wish to respond as follows;

Allowing third party access to compete in the gas markets and eliminating monopoly energy supplier positions is enshrined in European Treaties, Regulations, Directives and policies. For the Irish state to establish its own LNG terminal but disallow the only LNG project in development in this country for the last 10 years would surely be against EU law.

Kind Regards,

Noel Lynch
