To whom it may concern,

I would like to make an observation on the Templeogue Rathfarnham-City Centre bus corridor.

In the interest of the common good it is not a good idea to remove the tree line along Bushy Park.

1. Environment.

This is the destruction of a mature tree line that has taken a number of years to grow. It would be criminal to remove them for the sake of a bus corridor that would only add to more pollution in the area.

2. Logic.

It is hard to understand how a bus corridor is going to work in this new area when you have a dead end at either side. Both sides being blocked with houses.

3. Plan.

There is no plan to solve the traffic problems going through Terenure and Templeogue Village. Adding more busses is going to make the chaos worse.

4. Long Term

This seems to be a very short term plan when a proper long term solution could be taught out. Eg. Electric trams and one way systems.

Kind Regards,

Pat Coman.
