Each case is unique. It certainly can be considered the most important, a life-or-death issue. However, it is not the only one. In fact, there are many other cases that are equally important, but less dramatic. For example, the case of a child with a rare genetic disorder, who is the only one in the world with the condition, is a life-or-death issue. The child's parents are desperate to find a cure, and the child's life is in jeopardy.
